

Who are our members?

Members of the AANPNR must be AANP members. Our members represent a diverse group of Nurse Practitioners with a wide variety of interests in research.

Although many AANPNR members conduct independent research, it is not a requirement. In fact, the vast majority of members work in clinical practice and have limited research experience. Bringing together practicing NPs and experienced researchers allows the AANPNR to conduct meaningful research that is relevant to NPs and their patients.

The AANPNR is directed by Michelle L. Cook, AANP's Associate Vice President of Research and is solely funded by AANP.

Take advantage of our network.

AANPNR OBJECTIVES

- ▶ Conduct practice-based research relevant to NPs and their patients
- ▶ Facilitate translation of research to practice
- ▶ Improve the practice of primary care and specialty care by NPs
- ▶ Improve the health of patients

Getting involved in NP-specific research doesn't have to be difficult. Whether it is designing your own study, or simply filling out a survey about your practice, there are many opportunities to get involved.

Receive important member benefits.

- ▶ Bi-weekly digests feature information on upcoming conferences, grant opportunities and the latest webinars and resources relevant to NPs.
- ▶ First to hear about upcoming AANP studies.
- ▶ Access to special events at AANP conferences.
- ▶ Access to an online community forum where members can post discussion topics or questions.
- ▶ Bi-annual research newsletters included the latest AANP research findings, staffing updates, a calendar of events, and more.

Every member counts.

AANP's Network for Research (AANPNR) is a Practice-Based Research Network (PBRN), recognized by the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ) that provides busy NPs an opportunity to participate in research studies relevant to NPs and their patients.

The level of involvement is left up to individual members. Research projects vary from quick surveys to more in-depth studies involving peer collaboration. In addition to participation in AANP-sponsored projects, members with like interests and practices may develop other collaborative efforts with network support.
