Dosing levodopa for people with Parkinson’s disease (PD) is an ongoing exercise in fine-tuning to maintain “ON” time while avoiding troublesome dyskinesias. Join Dr Kettia Alusma-Hibbert, an expert in neurology and the treatment of PD, for a valuable discussion on the critical role the NP plays in working with patients to identify their needs throughout the day and individualize dosing to support these goals.