WELCOME TO THE 2024 AANP NATIONAL CONFERENCE IN NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

AANP President Stephen A. Ferrara
DNP, FNP-BC, FAANP, FAAN

Dear Colleague,

The American Association of Nurse Practitioners® (AANP) invites you to register for the 2024 AANP National Conference in Nashville, Tennessee, where you'll join a diverse community of nurse practitioners (NPs) from all specialties for six days of extensive education and hands-on workshops. Appropriately, this year's conference theme is Music to Our Patients' Ears: The Nurse Practitioner Difference.

Designed to enrich knowledge and familiarize you with the latest updates in clinical practice, this exciting program offers more than 330 sessions and is underscored by AANP's mission to empower all NPs to advance accessible, person-centered, high-quality health care for diverse communities through practice, education, advocacy, research and leadership (PEARL).

By registering for the in-person conference, you'll have the opportunity to earn significant continuing education (CE) credit on-site and gain free access to the on-demand package. Hands-on workshops offer a variety of opportunities to hone your skills. You'll learn about the different advances in pharmacology, and you can also be treated to industry-sponsored product theaters. Additionally, you will be privy to the latest NP legislative and policy updates affecting you and your patients.

With physical wellness a motivating factor for many patients and the NPs managing their care, I am pleased to share that three-time Olympian Dominique Dawes — best known as a member of "The Magnificent Seven" 1996 gold medal-winning American women's gymnastics team, will provide this year's keynote address. Her core belief that success is a journey, and not a destination, is the driving factor that pushed her to succeed at the games and throughout her life. Dawes will impart her gold-winning pearls of wisdom and inspire us to develop the right mindset to reach our full potential. Get ready to cheer — for your own success throughout life!

On behalf of the AANP Board of Directors, I encourage you to attend this conference — either in person or online — to hear new perspectives and make cherished memories. I look forward to seeing you!

Respectfully,

SPEAKER HIGHLIGHTS

AANP is honored to bring health care leaders, policy experts, public health officials and other well-respected speakers to AANP conference attendees.

OPENING GENERAL SESSION KEYNOTE SPEAKER

You may have seen Dominique Dawes breaking records as a gold-medal-winning gymnast and part of the 1996 Summer Olympics "Magnificent Seven" squad. Today, Dawes is a business owner, author and motivational speaker. The Olympian shares her experience of setbacks and success to audiences around the globe — reminding everyone that defeat should never define you.

Born in Silver Spring, Maryland, Dawes began training in gymnastics at the age of six. She started competing at nine, traveling the world and showcasing her skills on the balance beam and in floor exercise. Competing in the Olympics, Dawes made history as the first African American gymnast to win an individual medal and as the only female U.S. gymnast to be a part of three Olympic medal-winning gymnastic teams.

Along the way, she encountered her share of adversity, including the occasional difficult defeat on the gymnastics floor and having to compete with some combination of tendinitis and Osgood-Schlatter disease. In her post-Olympics career as a motivational speaker, entrepreneur, coach and advocate for healthy lifestyles and autism awareness, Dawes expands on the public victories and personal challenges she has experienced and challenges audiences to succeed on their own terms.
